

Bedtime Story For the Little Ones

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE BAKED APPLES.

BY HOWARD R. GARIS.

"WELL, here you are, Uncle Wiggily," exclaimed Nurse Jane. "Wiggily, the bushy lady housekeeper, one day as she came in the sitting room of the hollow stump bungalow where Mr. Longears, the rabbit gentleman, was polishing his glasses.

"Yes, I see I am here," said the bunny, smiling as he glanced over toward a looking glass. "But if that is a puzzle, what is the answer?"

"It isn't," laughed Nurse Jane. "I mean that here you are, to take the hot baked apples over to your friend, Grandfather Goosey."

"Oh, how I see!" exclaimed the bunny. "I am to take them to Grandfather Goosey. I am to take them to Grandfather Goosey. I am to take them to Grandfather Goosey."

"All ready, piping hot and as brown as the autumn leaves on the trees and as sweet with sugar as a lollipop," answered Nurse Jane.

"Well, this sounds as if I had something to do," said Uncle Wiggily to himself, putting down on a flat stump the basket, which had in it the steaming hot baked apples for Grandfather Goosey.

"Hello, there!" cried the bunny uncle in his most jolly voice. "Is there anything I can do to help you? Who are you and what is the matter?"

"I am a poor old mouse lady," was the answer. "I live in a hole under the stump near which you are standing. I have the rheumatism and I could not get out to gather any chips to make a fire, but my kettle is so cold that I am very cold and hungry and sad and lonely."

"Say no more," cried Uncle Wiggily. "You shall be as warm as I am. As for your rheumatism—don't mind that. I have it, and it is very hard to lose. But I'll get Nurse Jane to make you some of the medicine she gives me, which always helps some."

"Thank you," said the poor old mouse lady. "But what about my tea kettle boiling? I can't get any wood for my fire."

"I'll get it for you!" cried brave Uncle Wiggily, making his ears go up and down like the tail of Billie Westfall, the goat boy.

"The lion gentleman, leaving the very extra hot baked apple in the pot on the stump, jumped around to look for some chips to make a fire for the poor mouse lady, who was a great great-grandmother and greatest grand mother to Jollie and Billie Longtail, the mouse children."

But not a chip or a stick of wood could the rabbit bunny find. They were all covered with snow.

"Oh, dear!" cried the mouse lady when he told her. "How are you going to make a fire so I can have a hot cup of tea?"

"Wait a minute," begged Uncle Wiggily. "I'll have to think about it."

So he thought and he thought and he thought, and then Uncle Wiggily cried:

"Hot! I have it. The hot baked apple! I will put the tea kettle on the apple and the apple is so hot it will boil water. Then you can make your tea."

And that is what he did. Soon the poor mouse lady had a hot cup of tea and she felt much better. And as she was hungry, Uncle Wiggily left her the apple to eat as soon as it cooled, for he knew he could hop back to his bungalow and get another for Grandfather Goosey.

He did this, and he also ordered from the store some wood for the mouse lady, so she was never cold or hungry again that winter. Oh, I forgot to tell you that Uncle Wiggily, besides the book, ordered ten thousand cheeses for his mice. He told them to eat—being specially fond of them.

Then the bunny took a hot baked apple to Grandfather Goosey, who ate it with much gusto and for cream sauce, and very good it was, too.

So you see the bunny gentleman had a plan. He put the tea kettle on the apple and the mouse lady, and if the choo-choo cars don't blow their whistle and make the cow jump over the moon when it wants to go to the moving pictures, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the pancakes.—Copyright, 1916, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

REAL HAIR GROWER
Found at Last. Shows Results in Three Days says Local Druggist.

If you are rapidly losing your hair and fear baldness Kelly & Pollard invite you to make a three days' test of Parisian Sage. If it does not stop the excessive loss of hair and make your hair and scalp look and feel at least 100 per cent. better, they will return your money.

Hundreds of men and women have written telling of the phenomenal results obtained by using Parisian Sage. People who were bald say they now have hair and scalp look and feel at least 100 per cent. better, they will return your money.

No matter whether you are bothered with falling hair, prematurely gray hair, dry, dull and brittle hair, oily, greasy, stringy hair, dandruff or itching scalp, this well-known local firm invites you to try Parisian Sage at their risk. If it succeeds the cost is trifling, and should it fail the cost is nothing. No string or red tape in this money-back offer. If your hair is worth saving, Parisian Sage is worth trying, and a large bottle is inexpensive at your favorite drug or toilet counter.—Adv.

SCHOOL DAYS

WELL MAMMA, I FINALLY FOUND SOMETHING FOR BOBBIE FOR CHRISTMAS. ITS A BIG

SS-SS-SH!

News Notes from Movieland

BY DAISY DEAN.
MARRIAGE RUMOR, after whom the apple were named, is the newest recruit to the movies.

Recruits haven't been numerous lately, for the reason that almost all those available as recruits have been recruited.

Almost all seemed pretty, in one way or another, though most had let middle age come over them unresisting. But the one thing that struck me was, how badly their hands always looked. Here was a woman of thirty—she said she had three children and a house to care for—her hands were flabby and lined. Another was fat, but her hands were shapeless and pudgy. Still another had worked her hands till they were really skeletons, though her figure was trim and her hair was lovely.

It was just because these women had never cared for their hands. Remember—size in a hand does not matter. It's the whiteness and smoothness that counts and the appearance of the nails. It's a subject that cannot be overdone—take extra good care of your hands. They won't betray your age; they'll do worse—they'll make you seem years older than you really are.

Questions and Answers
I wish to sell some cold creams to make some Christmas money; is it necessary to have a license to do that? I make them myself and want to sell them through the mails. If so, please tell me where I sell the mails. Go to the City Hall and ask at the License Bureau, just to be sure. I do not think any is required, so long as your goods are pure. If you must get a license, it would cost very little.

Cheese Eggs With Rice Mould.
LET two cups of rice in enough cold water to cover it, bring to the boil, wash it and place it in the steppan and just cover it again with cold water. Cover it with buttered paper, let it come to the boil and simmer it in the oven for two and a half to three hours, turning which time occasionally add a little water. When cooked and dry, pound it till smooth and work it with the hand into a ball, dipping the hand into cold water occasionally to prevent it sticking. Remove any moisture from it by pressing it in a clean cloth, place it in a plain round, buttered mold, and keep it under pressure until cold. Then turn it out and fill the cavity with the cheese eggs.

How Any Woman Can Remove Hairy Growths
(Beauty Culture)
It is not improper necessary for a woman to visit a beauty specialist to have superfluous hairs removed, for with the aid of a plain delicate paste, she can, in the privacy of her own home, remove even a stubborn growth in a very few minutes. The paste is made by mixing some water with a little powdered salicylic acid. This is applied to the hairs and after 2 or 3 minutes removed and the skin washed, when it will be left clear and hairless. Be sure you buy real salicylic acid.—Adv.

Complexion Fresh as a daisy—not a Wrinkle in sight—Remarkable discovery of skin o-smosis quickly enables women with sunken cheeks, wrinkles and marks of age to become most beautiful, youthful and charming.

By Mlle. Marels, France's Great Prize Beauty
It is wonderful to look beautiful and youthful. The Countess de Chevannes, who at seventy years of age possesses a marvellously soft, smooth, velvet-like skin and almost girl-like complexion, without a wrinkle in sight told the writer personally in Paris that she owed it all to the discovery of skin o-smosis. With this marvellous discovery every complexion bleish can be banished in three nights in many instances, and you can awake in the morning with a beautiful natural rose colored complexion as fresh as a daisy.

I have known dozens of hollow-cheeked, wrinkled, aged-looking women who had given up all hope of ever looking beautiful and youthful again, to "come back" again, becoming most beautiful, youthful and charming in from two to three weeks' time by this wonderful simple method.

No matter what your age or what you have tried unsuccessfully, skin o-smosis will positively bring you new beauty and youth. Merely wash your face in warm water at night and rub in a teaspoonful or two of any good pure roseated cream, which you can obtain from your druggist, or the morning wash the face with cold water and rub in more cream.

These simple steps or less watch the marvellous transformation. See how the hardened, coarse, rough skin turns into fine, fresh, soft, youthful looking skin almost before your very eyes. All due to simple skin o-smosis produced solely by warm water and roseated cream.

But be sure to use only pure roseated cream, as it is an entirely different thing from ordinary face creams and must not be confused with them. I personally prefer Creme Tokalon (Roseated), but any good brand will do. If you have wrinkles get a box of Japanese Ice Cream and use them in connection with the cream and you get quick results on the deepest wrinkles, no matter of how long standing. In one night's time and awaken on the morning to witness most astonishing results.

I personally guarantee success in every case, in any of my newspaper articles which I write on subjects relating to beauty, or I will refund the amount paid for any products which I recommend, provided you take your medicine as directed. My American address is in Simons-Marels, 28 West 22nd street, New York.

NOTES:—The manufacture of Creme Tokalon has been such an unbounded success in their particular brand, that they offer to furnish to any charitable institution, if it can be shown that it will not harm any complexion, skin and give most astonishing new beauty in wrinkles, care-worn aged women in three days time. Write for a box of this cream, which is fresh and guaranteed pure from Kelly & Pollard, Warner Drug Co., Scott White & Co., Philadelphia, Pa. or most any good druggist in this city.—Adv.
